This is My Hospital

Mount Desert Island Hospital is where my family and I receive care, and where I serve as Chair of the Board of Trustees. This really is "my Hospital."

As you'll read in this report, many people can make that claim, for a lot of different reasons. Everyday the Hospital helps people regain and improve their health. It provides professional opportunity and job fulfillment. The Hospital offers people a variety of ways to serve and support their community. MDI Hospital also provides access to care that keeps families healthy and prevents illness from taking lives too soon.

This report provides only a small sample of the ways people connect to and benefit from their Hospital. MDI Hospital and others like it are also the only source of primary care that keeps chronic disease at bay. The Hospital provides millions of dollars each year in free and uncompensated care, and subsidizes health services that help keep our friends and neighbors fit and healthy.

I'm grateful that MDI Hospital is here for my family and my community. And, like the people featured in this report, I'm proud to say this is my Hospital.

Terry Musson
Chairman, Board of Trustees

My Hospital My Heart

For the Reverend Gary DeLong, Executive Director of the Maine Seacoast Mission, wellbeing and physical fitness go hand in hand. So after DeLong, an active man in his 60s, suffered a heart attack last December playing platform tennis, his rehabilitation at MDI Hospital helped heal both his heart and mind.

Following a stay at a Bangor hospital, DeLong returned to MDI grateful that he could rehabilitate close to home. "It's a comfort to have a hospital with that level of competence nearby," he said.

Cardiac rehab nurses Carol Zdziarski, RN and Sarah McEachern, RN worked closely with DeLong, monitoring, guiding and encouraging him. "They were good about pushing you in a way that made you comfortable. It helped me move beyond the feeling that my body had let me down and quickly build self-confidence."

He also valued the attentive, compassionate care he received. "There was a tremendous sense of small town caring. It's a real sense of one-to-one personal attention. That's invaluable," said DeLong.

DeLong has graduated from cardiac rehab and returned to the tennis court. "I'm playing as if I never left it," he said. "To be able to maintain a physically active lifestyle means the world to me."

My Hospital My Life

Martha Abbott of Bar Harbor gets no greater joy than spending time with her granddaughter Lauren. “We sing and play in the yard. The time we spend is very important,” said Abbott.

After a breast cancer diagnosis in July 2008, Abbott feared losing these precious moments. “I thought, will I be alive to see her at three years old?” But today, thanks to the Hospital’s Breast Center, Abbott looks forward to many years sharing memories with Lauren.

Abbott believes that the Breast Center’s new digital mammography unit made it possible to detect the cancer early enough to treat. “I really think it made a difference,” said Abbott.

Within days, Abbott had a biopsy and a lumpectomy, followed by treatment in Bangor. While the speed and expertise of care was impressive, it was the compassionate care of nurse Betty Mitchel, RN and the others at the Breast Center that touched her.

“Betty was right by my side. I wouldn’t have gotten through it without her support,” said Abbott. “It meant the world to me.”

Today Abbott sees a bright, cancer-free future, and she plans on spending as much of it as possible with Lauren. “I wasn’t going to have that taken from me.”

My Hospital My Family

Bar Harbor Optometrist Roger Brignull and his stepson Jon Nicholson share a family bond, and a family doctor, Brian Caine, M.D. Each appreciates having a close friend nearby who provides skilled, compassionate care for them and their loved ones.

Both are grateful for the ease of access to their family doctor. "It's reassuring that we can get rapid attention," said Dr. Brignull. "We see Brian for everything, from bug bites to colds," added Nicholson. "When my kids are sick, I can get them in right away. It's an absolute benefit to have access to that kind of care."

Nicholson is comforted that Dr. Caine also sees his children Kyle and Robin. "It is beneficial that Brian knows my issues so he can take preventive measures for my kids at an early age," he said.

They both value the personal relationship they have with Dr. Caine. "He's a good friend," said Dr. Brignull. "Because Brian and I know each other so well, he has a better understanding of me. There's a level of care that wouldn't be there if we didn't have such a longstanding relationship."

"There's a small-town familiarity," added Nicholson. "He's part of the family,"

My Hospital My Mission

Dr. Michael Heniser, DO, is motivated by a desire to make meaningful connections with people. His job as a family medicine and obstetrics provider at the Community Health Center gives him ample opportunity to fulfill this mission. "Medicine allows me to make a difference," said Dr. Heniser.

Dr. Heniser practices family medicine because of his diverse interests. "I want to help people in as many ways as possible," he said. Practicing obstetrics, he explained, allows him to be part of one of life's most deeply moving and meaningful moments. "When you lay that baby on mom's chest for the first time, it is a natural high. At that moment, there's no better place to be."

In 2007 Dr. Heniser and his wife Becky, who teaches the third grade, chose to live and work on Mount Desert Island because both the Hospital and the Island were an ideal fit. "This place offers a perfect balance between professional pursuits and lifestyle," he said.

For Dr. Heniser, whether caring for a neighbor or delivering a baby, the connections he makes with his patients and with his community give his job special meaning. "Everybody has a passion, and making a difference in people's health is what drives me."

My Hospital My Career

For Lily Sweeney, RN, an ICU nurse at MDI Hospital, working at a small hospital has provided big opportunities.

Coming from a large Washington, D.C. hospital in 1992, Sweeney thought her move to MDI would limit her professional opportunities. “When I came here, I didn’t know if my skills would grow or expand,” said Sweeney. “But I’ve been able to do things here that I would never have had a chance to do at a larger facility.”

“We’re a small Hospital so we have to be diverse,” said Sweeney. “I’ve worked in different areas of the hospital like the ER and OB units. It has expanded my career.”

She has not only been able to care for a variety of patients, she has also participated at a more in depth level than she might have at a bigger hospital. “You’re a part of the plan of care for patients here,” she explained. “You’re making better use of your skills.”

The uniquely caring atmosphere has made working at MDI Hospital a labor of love for Sweeney. “If you really have a calling to care for people, you want to work someplace that has a heart. That’s MDI Hospital.”

My Hospital My Community

Serving on MDI Hospital's Board of Trustees is a way that Michael Bonsey, Senior Vice President at Bar Harbor Bank & Trust, connects to the community. "As a banker and as a family man, I look for ways to connect with and support my community," said Bonsey. "The hospital's Board helps me do that."

Bonsey explained that the Hospital's Board is part of the tapestry of the community. "I look around the table at Board meetings and see doctors, people who understand the history and culture of the community, members of the legal and business community all helping the Hospital keep pace with the needs of our friends and neighbors."

This array of community members helps MDI Hospital's Board balance its need for financial stewardship with its caring mission. "The Hospital has many responsibilities. Having a diverse, representative Board makes that possible," said Bonsey.

A board comprised of people who live and work on the Island also ensures that MDI Hospital maintain its uniquely personal connection to the communities it serves. "A local board ensures a level of intimacy and personal care that you don't get when a board is removed from the community it serves."

My Hospital My Cause

Gail Marshall of Somesville believes that healthy hospitals are essential to the quality of life in a community. She also feels strongly that to thrive, hospitals need the active support of the communities they serve. "As citizens, we have a responsibility to be a positive contributor," said Marshall.

A lawyer by training, Marshall supports MDI Hospital through legislative advocacy. "MDI Hospital's ability to provide us high quality health care is directly affected by the policies that are adopted in Augusta and Washington," Marshall said. "In those venues, endlessly competing interests are at work. If we don't advocate for our Hospital, it's not likely anyone else will do it for us."

Marshall believes in supporting MDI Hospital not simply because it is there, but because it is exceptional. "We're way above average and we need to cherish that. I can't imagine a community of this type can maintain and advance a high quality of life without quality health care services," said Marshall.

Having supported several of the Hospital's successful efforts to confront legislation that would limit access to care, she encourages others to take action. "You really can have an impact on what happens."

My Hospital My Friends

To Bar Harbor residents Don and Joan Allen, donating to their Hospital is like sowing the seeds of a healthy community. "It's a great thing for the Island," said Don. "And as we've gotten older, we've made more frequent use of the Hospital. It's a Godsend to us," said Don.

The former owners of Don's Shop n Save believe in supporting the community that gave them so much. "I made my living from the people on this Island. I feel it's my duty to give back," said Don.

The Allens feel that by donating to the Hospital, they contribute to their friends and neighbors. "It's good for the community to have this Hospital, and we want to help," said Joan.

Joan is particularly appreciative of MDI Hospital's uniquely personal approach to care. "I like the warmth of a smaller institution," said Joan. "I can't say enough about it."

Today, Don spends much of his time maintaining the couple's flawless lawn and gardens; rigorous work that recently resulted in shoulder problems that slowed him down. However, thanks to care provided by MDI Hospital Don continues to plant seeds and watch them grow – at home and in the community.

Capital Campaign Donors

In early summer 2008, Mount Desert Island Hospital embarked upon three Capital Campaigns: one to help build our new Community Health Center in Southwest Harbor; the second to establish an endowment for the Straus Center, our Adult Day Center for seniors dealing with memory loss; and lastly, a third campaign to raise funds for the purchase and installation of a new 64-Slice CT Scanner. The following is a list of those whose generosity is helping bring our visions to life. It is noted when donors made a contribution to the Straus Center or the CT Scanner; all others made their gifts to the Community Health Center.
